MEMORIAL OF THE GREAT WITNESSES OF JESUS CHRIST

The Feast of the Holy Apostles Peter and Paul is at the same time a grateful memorial of the great witnesses of Jesus Christ and a solemn confession for the Church: one, holy, catholic and apostolic. It is first and foremost a feast of catholicity. The sign of Pentecost – the new community that speaks all languages and unites all peoples into one people, in one family of God – this sign has become a reality

Strangers have become friends; crossing every border, we recognize one another as brothers and sisters. This brings to fulfilment the mission of St Paul, who knew that he was the “minister of Christ Jesus among the Gentiles, with the priestly duty of preaching the Gospel of God so that the Gentiles [might] be offered up as a pleasing sacrifice, consecrated by the Holy Spirit” (Rom 15: 16).

The purpose of the mission is that humanity itself becomes a living glorification of God, the true worship that God expects: This is the deepest meaning of catholicity – a catholicity that has already been given to us, towards which we must constantly start out again. Catholicity does not only express a horizontal dimension, the gathering of many people in unity, but also a vertical dimension: it is only by raising our eyes to God, by opening ourselves to him, that we can truly become one.

Like Paul, Peter also came to Rome, to the city that was a centre where all the nations converged and, for this very reason, could become, before any other, the expression of the universal outreach of the Gospel. As he started out on his journey from Jerusalem to Rome, he must certainly have felt guided by the voices of the prophets, by faith and by the prayer of Israel.

The mission to the whole world is also part of the proclamation of the Old Covenant: the people of Israel were destined to be a light for the Gentiles. The great Psalm of the Passion, Psalm 22[21], whose first verse Jesus cried out on the Cross: “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?”, ends with the vision: “All the ends of the earth shall remember and turn to the Lord; all the families of the nations shall bow down before him” (Ps 22[21]: 28). When Peter and Paul came to Rome, the Lord on the Cross who had uttered the first line of that Psalm was risen; God's victory now had to be proclaimed to all the nations, thereby fulfilling the promise with which the Psalm concludes.

Catholicity means universality – a multiplicity that becomes unity; a unity that nevertheless remains multiplicity. From Paul's words on the Church's universality we have already seen that the ability of nations to get the better of themselves in order to look towards the one God, is part of this unity...The unity of men and women in their multiplicity has become possible because God, this one God of heaven and earth, has shown himself to us; because the essential truth about our lives, our “where from?” and “where to?” became visible when he revealed himself to us and enabled us to see his face, himself, in Jesus Christ. This truth about the essence of our being, living and dying, a truth that God made visible, unites us and makes us brothers and sisters. Catholicity and unity go hand in hand. And unity has a content: the faith that the Apostles passed on to us in Christ's name.

Benedict XVI, Solemnity of Ss Peter and Paul, Homily at St Peter's Basilica (Wednesday, 29 June 2005).

| British Spiritans and their Mission In 1925, the first Spiritian missionary from the UK, Fr. Henry Parkinson, went to Sierra Leone, West Africa. More followed him there, & then to Nigeria & Mauritius, East Africa & the Caribbean. In 1939, the outbreak of World War II affected the Congregation and the Church in the missions. In Northern Nigeria there were many Spiritians from Alsace and Lorraine. Germany occupied this territory & declared that the citizens from these areas were now Germans. Britain responded by arresting all these Spiritan priests and brothers in Nigeria & other parts of the British Empire and shipped them off to prison camps in the West Indies. To fill this void in Nigeria the General Council asked the British Province to take responsibility for the Prefecture of Makurdi in Northern Nigeria, an area almost the size of England. Since then most of the English Province, a total of 97 priests over the years, have worked there. At first, they concentrated on primary education then later opening colleges. In 1975, the Government took over education leaving missionaries free to focus on adults. The response was tremendous, and many new parishes, clinics and hospitals were opened. Missionaries encouraged local vocations who would eventually take over the area. A Junior Seminary was opened in Keffi in 1956 & students from there went on to the Senior Seminary in Jos. Today there are close to a million and a half Catholics in the original prefecture, which is now split into several dioceses, each with their own Nigerian Bishop & clergy. Our Province continued its links with Sierra Leone & always had fathers working there up to & during the recent brutal & horrendous civil war. Again, like Nigeria, initial vocations were positively directed towards the Diocesan Priesthood. After a few isolated ordinations, 3 young men were ordained in 1977 & now there are several ordinations every year. Since Vatican II, there is a much greater involvement in international projects with the British Province at the forefront of this missionary commitment. British Spiritans have served on many international teams & continue to contribute to our international mission. As we begin our third century of service, British Spiritans are to be found around the world working alongside Spiritans from over 50 nations, and welcoming members of other provinces to work and train alongside us here in the UK. In 2015 our newly elected Provincial Superior hails from Nigeria. | | SITE MAINTENANCE AND CARETAKER We are looking for someone to join our site maintenance and caretaking team at the Cathedral site.
